EXCISE TAX ON DEBT-DEFAULTING NATIONS ADDED BY SENATE IN PASSING LIQUOR BILL

SPRITED CONTEST ON ST. LAWRENCE BREWS IN SENATE

Roosevelt Asks Approval of Project; Also Federal Backing of Farm Bonds
in Messages to Capitol Hill.

MORAL OBLIGATION IS SEEN ON BONDS

Congress Expected To Follow Recommendation
That Principal as Well
as Interest Be Assured.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt proposed to congress today the guaranteeing by the government of principal as well as interest on farm mortgage refinancing bonds, and the ratification by the senate of the sharply disputed St. Lawrence water treaty with Canada.

Senate debate on the house liquor tax bill was interrupted for reading of the president's farm credit message. The house earlier had heard it.

The brief message on the two-billion-dollar bond issue, said: "It seems in every way right that we thus publicly acknowledge what amounts already to a moral obligation."

"In order that progress in making loans may be uninterrupted," Mr. Roosevelt said, "I hope that the congress will give attention to this subject as soon as possible."

Property of Value.
He pointed out that the securities would be backed "not only by the credit of the government but also by physical property of very definite value."

Congressional leaders said there would be little difficulty about passing legislation providing for both the home loan and the farm bond guarantees.

Within an hour after the house had heard the first special message sent to congress this session by the president, Chairman Jones, of the house agriculture committee, had introduced a bill to carry out his wishes. He said hearings would begin tomorrow morning.

"I expect it will go through," said Representative Snell, republican, New York, the minority leader, although he continued:

"This adds $2,000,000,000 to the mounting indebtedness of this government."

The message itself, following the brief and pointed Roosevelt pattern said it was technically true that government responsibilities would be increased $2,000,000,000 "but it seems in every way right that we thus publicly acknowledge what amounts already to a moral obligation."

Outcome in Doubt.
The president asked ratification of the seaway treaty by a senate whose forces on the eve of taking up the pact were so widely separated as to leave senate leaders in doubt of the outcome.

NRA To Urge New Cut In Hours of Workers

Proposal Will Be Offered To Industry Next Month If Business Develops To Expected Point, Says Johnson.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—A will be a continuation of the administrative revision which started with the price change hearing that concluded today. This disclosed widespread use by industries of the code authorizations for publishing open prices to fix uniform and greatly increased prices on a variety of products.

A number of other misapplications of the code principle also were brought to light and officials predicted considerable changes in code administration as a result.

The industries complained against, ranging from hosiery and knitting mills to cement, concrete, coal and steel producers will be called in for further hearing in all instances where definite evidence against them was presented so that they may answer fully before methods of code reform are worked out.

Johnson's intention of proposing work hour shortening suggested that the administration might have a definite plan to turn back upon private industry by spring, a sizeable portion of the employment load now being carried by the federal government through the Civil Work Administration.

Under present plans the civil work program would be cut off in May and if industry is expected then to shoulder the larger part of the load many men will have to be transferred.

The February gathering, he said, will be a continuation of the administrative revision which started with the price change hearing that concluded today.

He said he did not contemplate a universal 20-hour week, any other definite figure, but explained that hours virtually had to be decreased or increased by eight, which suggested an average of 32 working hours a week as a possible objective.

"Not only that, but I think business is going to."

He said he did not contemplate a universal 20-hour week, any other definite figure, but explained that hours virtually had to be decreased or increased by eight, which suggested an average of 32 working hours a week as a possible objective.

He will propose the general reduction plan to a gathering of the directing committees for the 200 coded industries at a meeting he will call for February 15.

That session is to go over the entire code regime for the purpose of shaking out inequalities between competing industries, discriminations between manufacturing and distributing groups, abuses and unsatisfactory policies of all sorts. Johnson's idea is that now that a large part of the codes are in effect they can be coordinated into a working whole.

The February gathering, he said, will be a continuation of the administrative revision which started with the price change hearing that concluded today.

He said he did not contemplate a universal 20-hour week, any other definite figure, but explained that hours virtually had to be decreased or increased by eight, which suggested an average of 32 working hours a week as a possible objective.

SIX NAVY PLANES OFF FOR LONG HOP, U. S. TO HONOLULU

Two Atlantans Participating in Mass Flight
From San Francisco to Hawaii City.

ATLANTANS FLYING
PLANES TO HAWAII
Two Atlantans are included in the crews of the six big navy seaplanes which took off Wednesday from San Francisco for Hawaii.

Lieutenant T. D. Guinn is pilot and navigator of the 10-P-4, which was the first plane into the air at the take-off, while G. W. Dunn is assistant pilot of the 10-P-6.

Breezing along in the darkness over the Pacific, six American navy planes carrying 30 men on a mass flight from the mainland to Hawaii were well on their way tonight and had almost ideal weather ahead.

At 8 p. m. (Pacific standard time) they had been flying southwestward over the ocean for about 5-1/2 hours and were 490 nautical miles (about 560 land miles) from the Golden Gate. The wind now reported it was on the direct line of flight.

Navy headquarters here sent a message to the destroyer Schenck, 600 nautical miles out, saying the weather ahead of the fliers was good and that they should be arriving in the vicinity of a tail wind.

The destroyer was asked to tell the fliers that "exceptionally good weather" awaited them farther on, and that they should run into bright sunshine upon approaching Hawaii.

Apparently the massed airmen were proceeding along the perilous 2,400 land-mile course without trouble. The Schenck was overheard asking the fliers to "keep on the beam."

"Now flying in fog," was the reply. "Turn on the searchlights to the northeast sector," was the reply.

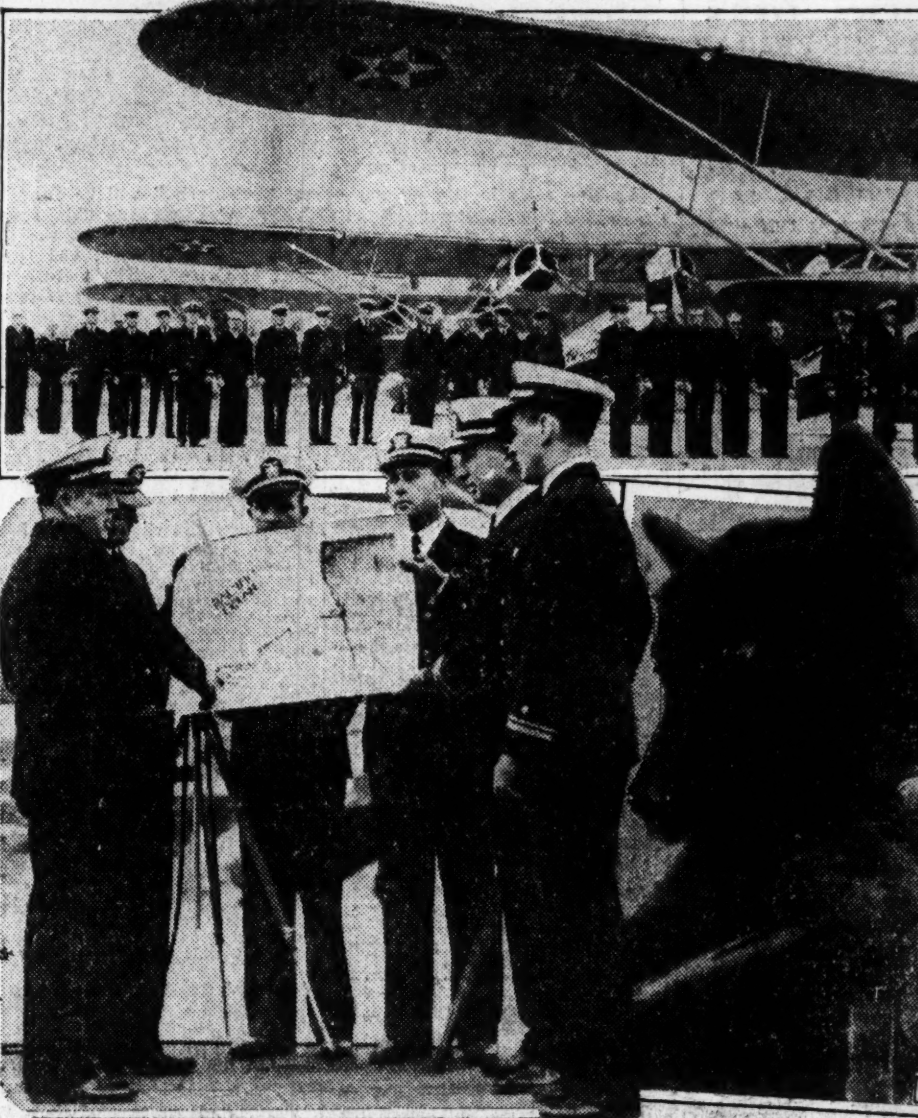

Their takeoff in an almost breezeless bay at San Francisco this afternoon, however, had been a difficult matter. Five of the planes struggled for two hours to get into the air. They went into formation quickly then, however, and the adventure was on.

Out through the Golden Gate they headed at 2:22 p. m. (Pacific standard time) two hours and 10 minutes after the first plane rose from the waters of San Francisco bay. At 2:20 p. m. they passed Point Lobos, westernmost point of land here, and roared seaward.

Acting as they were officially performing routine duty, the six officers and 24 men aboard the big ships actually were starting the longest overseas mass flight ever attempted—an undertaking described by aviators as something more difficult than a "hot" landing.

ROCKEFELLER SUED ON LEASE POLICIES

Heckscher Charges Unfair Competition in $10-000,000 Action.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller Jr. and associates in the Rockefeller center development were charged with unfair competition in soliciting tenants in a $10,000,000 damage suit filed today by real estate interests controlled by August Heckscher, aged multimillionaire philanthropist.

The use of coercion to force businesses in which they have an interest to vacate leases and move to Rockefeller Center was alleged in the complaint against the defendants, who include Winthrop W. Aldrich, banker and brother-in-law of Rockefeller, and Nelson A. Rockefeller, a son.

The plaintiffs are the Anahua Realty Corporation and the Broadway Exchange Corporation. Heckscher is president of the latter.

Injunction Sought.
An injunction to end the alleged practices by the Rockefeller Center interests was sought in the complaint. Rockefeller Center was characterized as a "modern Frankenstein" stepping "through the door of special privilege into the realm of destructive competition" in one section of the city.

Roosevelt To Review Entire Fleet in Hudson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—President Roosevelt under present navy plans will review the entire United States fleet in the Hudson river at New York early in June.

It will be the first review in that area since December, 1918, when the then secretary of the navy, Joseph Daniels, reviewed the vessels upon their return from the World War.

Tentative plans for the return of the fleet from the Pacific to the Atlantic call for a start for the east coast April 9, to be followed by maneuvers in the Guantanamo (Cuba) area.

After the review the ships will be distributed among east coast stations, where they will remain until the fleet concentrates in the fall for its return to the west coast.

Drive for $500,000 for a greater Grady hospital and an enlarged Albert Steiner cancer clinic was initiated Wednesday from three sources.

REVISION URGED BY SENATOR CLARK

VOTED BY 40 TO 39

$3 Per Gallon Excise Tax
on Wines and $5 Per Gallon on Spirits Approved Despite Opposition by Leaders.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(UP)—The senate passed the house liquor tax bill without record vote today, after including an anti-administration amendment aimed at nations defaulting their war debts to America.

The intense resentment in Congress against foreign debt defaulters smashed party lines and brought approval, 40 to 39, of an amendment by Senator Clark, democrat, Missouri, imposing a special tax of $3 a gallon on wines and $5 a gallon on spirits from nations not meeting their obligations to this country.

This was the chief change in the bill designed to yield approximately $500,000,000 in new revenues to the treasury. The measure now goes into conference on the senate amendments, which must be approved by the house.

An effort to increase the taxes on liquor from debt defaulting nations in the house when the bill was under consideration there was howled down. The senate also adopted an amendment to permit newspaper and periodicals carrying liquor advertisements to circulate in dry states.

Democrats Unsuccessful.
Democratic leaders made every effort in the senate to muster sufficient strength to defeat the Clark amendment, which they said would embarrass the president's efforts to expand the nation's foreign trade through reciprocal trade agreements.

Senator East, Harrison, chairman of the finance committee, leaped to his feet when the amendment was introduced to denounce it as improper for including nations that were not to war that France, the chief defaulting nation, would retaliate by imposing additional restrictions on American agricultural exports.

Only four republicans and a scattering of democrats were in their seats when debate on the amendment began. Administration leaders had expected little difficulty in defeating it.

Democrats who had voted in favor of the amendment were given an opportunity to change their vote when Harrison called for a re-reading of the roll call vote.

Not a vote was revised.
The ayes have 40, and the nays 39," announced Vice President Garner. "The ayes have it and amendment is adopted."

Roll Call on Amendment.
The senate roll call follows:
Democrats for: Bachman, Bone, Brown, Caraway, Clark, Connally, Copeland, Dill, Duffy, Erickson, George, Lewis, McAdoo, McGill, Murphy, Russell, Tamm, and Wheeler—15 total.

Republicans for: Barbour, Borah, Capper, Carey, Davis, Dickinson, Fess, Frazier, Goldsborough, Hastings, Herbert, Jones, LaFollette, McNary, Norris, Nye, Patterson, Robinson of Indiana, Schall, Steiwer and Vandenberg—21.

Farmer-labor for: Shipstead—1.

Democrats Seeking Caucus on Patronage

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Discontented house democrats, murmuring against the patronage situation under Postmaster-General Farley, prepared a petition today in an attempt to force a party caucus on the subject.

The petition, being circulated by Representative Carpenter, democrat, Nebraska, requires 25 names before Representative Byrnes, the democratic leader, has to consider it.

Carpenter wants a caucus committee set up to wait on President Roosevelt to "place the exact situation as we see it before him" with regard to patronage.

Last spring a special subcommittee of the democratic congressional committee was created to see about patronage matters. It was headed by Representative McClinton, democrat, Oklahoma, and ran into administration opposition.

Gala Day Is Experienced By Atlanta Opera-Lovers

By MOZELLE HORTON.
Wednesday has gone down in Atlanta operatic history as one of the most gala and outstandingly successful days ever experienced in any local opera season, the sensational success of the matinee performance of "Hansel and Gretel" being followed at night by a double bill of "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci" that by far exceeded in every respect any production yet given by the Chicago Opera Company in the city auditorium during this current season.

Although the audience for the evening performance was not nearly as large as the tremendous audience Wednesday afternoon, still it was a large audience, for the one at the matinee was of a proportion seldom seen.

I believe that Wednesday evening's performance proved to Atlanta that there is "nothing in a name," because, although many of the stars of the Chicago Opera Company have not the world-wide reputations of some of the more publicized singers, their ability was shown in such an emphatic way in both operas last evening that the audience realized that there was nothing more to be desired.

Double Bill at Night.
Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" complete the "twin operas," so called because they are so frequently presented in a double bill.

"Cavalleria Rusticana" is a tragedy of Sicilian life, all enacted in one act. In one short interval the emotions, the loves, the hates, the revenges, of this hot-blooded race run the gamut of their expression. Turridu, sung by Lawrence Power, is the victim of his former lover's betrayal, costing him his life at the hands of Alfio, sung by Luigi Molle, in a scene of dramatic tenseness, which brought an effectively dramatized opera to a climactic ending.

Lawrence Power, who was a good Faust Tuesday evening, was a better Turridu. The emotional depth of his beautiful tenor was unfolded last night without reservation.

Santa Biundo, soprano, made her Atlanta debut as Santuzza, proving in no uncertain terms that she can sing and that she can act, making

BOARD TO DEMAND POLICE DISCIPLINE

Officers To Be Called on Carpet Tonight in Department Probe.

Rigid discipline in the Atlanta police department will be demanded of all superior officers by the police committee of council at a special meeting of the officers at 6 o'clock tonight in the police court room, following reports in a letter signed by Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant and Assistant Chief A. Lamar Poole that certain officers are conducting a whispering campaign to the detriment of departmental morale.

The Sturdivant-Poole letter, denying that friction existed between themselves and claiming that a few disgruntled officers are indulging in capricious complaints, provoked criticism and approval from police committee members. Chairman G. Dan Bridges and Councilman Raymond Curtis stated that it was "news" to them that there was no friction between Sturdivant and Poole, and Councilman George B. Lyle praising the letter. Bridges and Curtis expressed the feeling that the public should not be led on to maintain discipline in the department, and it is expected that they will comment on this line at tonight's meeting.

Councilman John A. White, who on Tuesday urged denunciation of both Sturdivant and Poole and the promotion of a new chief, said he will withhold any demand for disciplinary action by council until the police committee has had an opportunity of handling the situation.

At tonight's meeting, which will precede the regular session of the police committee, subjects to be discussed will include laxity in reporting state cases according to a general order issued by Chief Sturdivant, Councilman G. Dan Bridges, chairman, Councilman Raymond Curtis and other members of the committee are expected to lay down an ultimatum to the officers to maintain discipline in the department.

Chief Sturdivant, it is understood, will seek to impress on the officers the necessity of stamping out politics in the department in order to enforce discipline and build up morale.

In a statement defending conduct of the department, in view of the Sturdivant-Poole letter, Mayor Key said that "if the Atlanta newspapers will quit nagging the police department and help it clean up Atlanta, I feel confident that a better job will be done. I want them to stop criticizing the department for petty faults and to aid the police in their work. An attitude of this kind will get what will react to the benefit of all citizens."

public works program due to constitutional limitations. We can easily utilize something like 150,000 additional CWA jobs, but if Mr. Hopkins will allot us 50,000 it will be a tremendous help."

The caucus also decided to call on Secretary of Agriculture Wallace tomorrow in a body to urge immediate action on the agricultural adjustment administration's policy regarding the sale and distribution of milk in the Georgia area. Representative Robert Ransome, of Decatur, who has been negotiating with AAA officials with a view to speeding up action, explained that although he understood a new milk policy had been decided upon and was now in the hands of Secretary Wallace for approval, milk

Featured 'Lohengrin' Singers

"Our milk producers are confronted with a serious situation," said Ransome, "and I am sure that when Secretary Wallace is apprised of the situation he will act and act immediately."

Neither Representative Vinson nor other members of the delegation would divulge the nature of other matters discussed in the caucus, which was executive, but it is known that at least one member complained bitterly of the treatment he had received in the matter of the appointment of postmasters in his district. No action was taken on this score, however.

Already a committee representing the delegation headed by Senator Walter F. George and Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. has discussed the need for additional CWA jobs with the president, who has promised to take the matter up with Administrator Hopkins.

At the Friday meeting it is the purpose of the group to point out to Mr. Hopkins the injustice of confining CWA workers to persons previously on relief or work rolls. Many thousands of unemployed persons in the state equally deserving never have these rolls, they contend.

OPERA-LOVERS HERE HAVE GALA DAY

her character so vital that now Santa Biondo is taking her place among those others of the Chicago Opera Company who have already become favorites to Atlanta music lovers.

Evidently Elvira Helal's energy and her resourcefulness are unlimited, for after scoring a success as Gretel in the opera yesterday afternoon, she returned as Lola last night to win an equal success.

"Pagliacci" Applauded. The second offering in the double bill, "Pagliacci," brought a flood of appreciative applause for the splendor of the acting and the singing of this long-time favorite. The clever drama, a play within a play, lends itself well to interesting plot, and the music is particularly tuneful and attractive. Giuseppe Interrante, acting as Tonio, the clown, taking the place that Amato was to have had if illness had not prevented his coming, made a vocal masterpiece of his "Prologue."

Edward Ransome, tenor, created a Camio, jealous husband of Nedda, sung by Annunziata Garrotto, soprano, with dramatic power, both in singing and in acting.

He was accorded a tremendous ovation as he eagerly followed every word of the musical story sung in English gives gratifying proof that Atlanta's younger generation is appreciative of the fine things in art and life.

Their enthusiasm literally electrified the atmosphere. Between acts, when the lights would come on, hundreds would go out to the lobby, an outlet for their childish energy, and then in about two minutes, long before the curtain would rise again, one would see them scurrying down every aisle, back to their seats, so afraid were they that they would miss something!

And although the majority of the audience was children, the adults were not far behind in the minority, and certainly none behind in their enthusiasm and enjoyment of the performance.

Stars Respond. And that sixth sense that every true actor and artist possesses—of sensing the audience-feeling—was in sensitive working order, for the stars responded to the excited eagerness and appreciation of the audience with the finest performance of the current opera season thus far. They made the earth to tremble on the eve of her wedding, and the witch, with her inative personal fairyland, become real people who lived and danced and sang, and in the case of the latter, actually got little boys and girls, but in the end reaping the reward that all Bad People reap.

Hansel was the most adorable little mischievous boy that one could ever imagine. Georgia Standing, contralto, played the role to utmost perfection. Her characterization was so true and so real that it was hard to believe that she was only playing a part. Her voice possessed a quality that was appealingly beautiful, but never was the guilty of depicting from the story and her role to exploit her voice alone, though its versatility was easily recognizable.

Gretel Was Perfect. And the most perfect little Gretel was Elvira Helal, brimful of personality, playing the part of the happy little girl, or of the fearful little girl with intense realism. Her voice is versatile and capable, and she knows how to employ it with the excellent advantage of a little boy and girl, but in the end reaping the reward that all Bad People reap.

Alice Haseler, the witch in true witchy fashion. Even her rasping, cracking old voice made cold shivers run up and down one's spine, to say nothing of her ghastly countenance, with her long hooked nose, and her vicious looking teeth or two. There probably was many a little boy and girl who had nightmares about the realistic old witch in their dreams last night.

Interrante Satisfactory. Giuseppe Interrante was the father of Hansel and Gretel, giving a most satisfactory interpretation to the only other important character in the play. The management reciprocated for the enthusiastic reception given the opera by giving the audience a thrilling surprise after the opera in a group of ballet numbers by the corps de ballet, among them being a fascinating dance by a dainty human doll for the delight of the children.

Atlanta's own conductor, Enrico Leide, conducted the orchestra for the ballet. The numbers were repeated between the operas in the evening.

Giuseppe Bamboscheck conducted the entire production with a commanding artistry.

It will be a safe bet that the next opera appealing to childhood interest in Atlanta will be even more largely attended, for this experience lived by that great aggregation of children yesterday afternoon will be talked about among their playmates for days and days and days.

SPIRITED CONTEST ON ST. LAWRENCE BREWS IN SENATE

cation to the senate, reaching it as plans were made to begin debate on the question tomorrow, emphasized three reasons why the chief executive believed the treaty signed in 1932 should be ratified.

He subscribed "to the definite belief that the completion of the seaway will greatly serve the economic and transportation needs of a vast area of the United States."

He advocated its ratification as a step toward the construction of a fourth great link in a chain of federal-controlled power project stretching across the nation—the Tennessee valley. Boulder dam and Columbia river projects.

He declared himself "satisfied that the treaty contained adequate provision for the needs of the Chicago drainage district and for navigation between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi river."

Before the presidential request was read to the senate, Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, in a speech representing the minority of the senate foreign relations committee, declared himself emphatically against the seaway phase of the project, which he called a "wasteful and unneeded navigation program."

Power Approved. To the power proposal, however, Wagner threw his hearty support, adding that he wanted it divorced from "the economic handicaps association" with the seaway plan.

The message from Mr. Roosevelt was viewed by leaders as swinging some democratic votes away from the opposition.

Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, a leader of the fight against the seaway, said he would not vote for it unless it was separated from the navigation project.

This opinion shaded down through various comment from the opposition to that of one of the democratic leaders, the president's message had pared the opposition votes equal to a point where it was an even battle. A two-thirds is needed for ratification.

jealous wrath by stabbing his pretty wife, and then stabbing her lover, after which he sings to the audience.

"The Comedy Is Ended," was a scene of gripping realism, made so by the man who is every inch an artist.

Garrotto Triumphs Again. Annunziata Garrotto affirmed the honors she carried away in "Faust" Tuesday evening with another triumph as Nedda, the forsaken wife.

Lola Mollo was an impassioned Silvio, lover of Nedda, revealing the true beauty of his deep, rich voice of unusually fine quality in this, his second role of the evening.

The orchestra played with genuine inspiration, especially so in "Cavalleria," a tribute that has not before been paid the orchestra. And the chorus sang with the spirit and gusto that they had yet attained. In short, Wednesday evening's entire performance was the most completely artistic of the season.

Childhood Delighted. Atlanta childhood turned out en masse to fill the city auditorium to the point of "standing room only" Wednesday afternoon for the performance of Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel" by the Chicago Opera Company. It was said to be the largest audience assembled for an opera or any other musical attraction in Atlanta in the last 10 or 15 years.

The number of young children who so eagerly followed every word of the musical story sung in English gives gratifying proof that Atlanta's younger generation is appreciative of the fine things in art and life.

Their enthusiasm literally electrified the atmosphere. Between acts, when the lights would come on, hundreds would go out to the lobby, an outlet for their childish energy, and then in about two minutes, long before the curtain would rise again, one would see them scurrying down every aisle, back to their seats, so afraid were they that they would miss something!

And although the majority of the audience was children, the adults were not far behind in the minority, and certainly none behind in their enthusiasm and enjoyment of the performance.

Stars Respond. And that sixth sense that every true actor and artist possesses—of sensing the audience-feeling—was in sensitive working order, for the stars responded to the excited eagerness and appreciation of the audience with the finest performance of the current opera season thus far. They made the earth to tremble on the eve of her wedding, and the witch, with her inative personal fairyland, become real people who lived and danced and sang, and in the case of the latter, actually got little boys and girls, but in the end reaping the reward that all Bad People reap.

Hansel was the most adorable little mischievous boy that one could ever imagine. Georgia Standing, contralto, played the role to utmost perfection. Her characterization was so true and so real that it was hard to believe that she was only playing a part. Her voice possessed a quality that was appealingly beautiful, but never was the guilty of depicting from the story and her role to exploit her voice alone, though its versatility was easily recognizable.

Gretel Was Perfect. And the most perfect little Gretel was Elvira Helal, brimful of personality, playing the part of the happy little girl, or of the fearful little girl with intense realism. Her voice is versatile and capable, and she knows how to employ it with the excellent advantage of a little boy and girl, but in the end reaping the reward that all Bad People reap.

Alice Haseler, the witch in true witchy fashion. Even her rasping, cracking old voice made cold shivers run up and down one's spine, to say nothing of her ghastly countenance, with her long hooked nose, and her vicious looking teeth or two. There probably was many a little boy and girl who had nightmares about the realistic old witch in their dreams last night.

Interrante Satisfactory. Giuseppe Interrante was the father of Hansel and Gretel, giving a most satisfactory interpretation to the only other important character in the play. The management reciprocated for the enthusiastic reception given the opera by giving the audience a thrilling surprise after the opera in a group of ballet numbers by the corps de ballet, among them being a fascinating dance by a dainty human doll for the delight of the children.

Atlanta's own conductor, Enrico Leide, conducted the orchestra for the ballet. The numbers were repeated between the operas in the evening.

Giuseppe Bamboscheck conducted the entire production with a commanding artistry.

It will be a safe bet that the next opera appealing to childhood interest in Atlanta will be even more largely attended, for this experience lived by that great aggregation of children yesterday afternoon will be talked about among their playmates for days and days and days.

Text of Roosevelt Message To Senate on Waterway Pact

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's message to the senate today advocating quick ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty follows:

To the senate:

I request the consideration of ratification by the senate of the so-called St. Lawrence treaty with Canada. Broad national reasons lead me, without hesitation, to advocate the treaty. There are two main considerations, navigation and power.

Canada and the United States are possessed of a natural flow of water from near the center of the continent to the ocean—a flow which throughout the greater part of its length is today available for navigation by large vessels. A system of locks at the eastern end of Lake Superior, a dredged channel between Lake Huron and Lake Erie, and another series of locks between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario provide free and adequate navigation well down the St. Lawrence river. From there, a series of three rapids, all of them within a distance of 120 miles, now impede navigation by ocean-going vessels; but a Canadian canal already provides facilities for smaller ships. This Canadian canal now is used substantially up to its capacity.

Two in Canada. Two of the three rapids are wholly in Canadian territory; the other is in the so-called international section. A great power development at the Beauharnois rapids in Canada is already nearing completion and looks for ocean-going ships have been planned for and could readily be built at a low cost as part of the plan. This means that only two additional series of locks are required for a complete and continuous seaway from Duluth to Salt Water. I call your attention to the simple fact that Canada alone is in a position to build the locks at the Beauharnois rapids and at the international section and thus, provide a seaway wholly within Canadian control without treaty participation by the United States. This, however, would be a reversal of the policy of co-operation which the United States and Canada have continuously maintained for generations.

I want to make it very clear that this great international highway for shipping is without any question going to be completed in the near future and that this completion should be carried out by both nations instead of by one.

Benefits Are Substantial. I am sending you herewith a summary of data prepared at my request by governmental agencies. This summary, in its relation to the economic aspects of the seaway, shows first, the broad national point of view, first, that commerce and transportation will be greatly benefited and, secondly, local and regional economic harm to special localities or to special interests are grossly exaggerated. It is, I believe, a historic fact that every great improvement directed to better commercial communications, whether in the case of railroads into new territory, or the deepening of great rivers, or the building of canals, or even the cutting of the Isthmus of Panama, have all been subjected to opposition on the part of local interests which conjure up imaginary fears and fail to realize that improved transportation results in increased commerce benefiting directly or indirectly all sections.

For example, I am convinced that the building of the St. Lawrence seaway will not injure the railroads or throw their employees out of work; that it will not in any way interfere with the proper use of the Mississippi river or the Missouri river for navigation. Let us be wholly frank in saying that it is better economics to send grain or other raw materials from our northwest to Europe via the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence than it is to send them around three sides of a square via Texas ports or the Mississippi, through the Gulf of Mexico and thence, from the southern end of the North Atlantic to its northern end. In this illustration, it is well to remember that the shortest line is the shortest distance between two points.

Chicago Protected. I am satisfied that the treaty contains adequate provision for the needs of the Chicago drainage district and for navigation between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi river. A special report from the great majority of the war department covers this subject.

On the affirmative side, I subscribe to the belief that the completion of the seaway will greatly serve the economic and transportation needs of a vast area of the United States and should, therefore, be considered solely from the national point of view.

The other great objective provided for in the treaty relates to the development of electric power. As you know, I have advocated the development of four great power areas in the United States, each to serve as a yardstick and each to be controlled by government or governmental agencies. The Tennessee valley plants and projects in the southeast, the Boulder project in the northwest, the Columbia river projects in the northwest are already under construction. The St. Lawrence development in the northeast calls for action. This river is a source of incomparably cheap power located in proximity to a great industrial and rural market area within transmission distance of millions of domestic consumers.

Unanimous Vote. The legislature of the state of New York by unanimous vote set up the necessary state machinery during my term as governor in 1929 and the state stands ready to co-operate with the federal government in the distribution of power in accordance with what I believe is today a definite national policy.

Power in the international section of the St. Lawrence cannot be developed without a treaty between the United States and Canada. On the other hand, Canada can develop a huge block of new power at the two other rapids which lie wholly within Canadian territory. Here again, as in the case of navigation, it is better in every way that we should maintain the historic principle of accord with Canada in the mutual development of the two rivers.

I have not stressed the fact that the starting of this great work will put thousands of unemployed to work.

OFFICERS RENAMED AS J. P. C. OBSERVES 20TH ANNIVERSARY

The twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Jewish Progressive Club of Atlanta was celebrated Wednesday night at the clubhouse in a meeting in which the election of officers for the year also was a feature.

All officers were re-elected. They are: Charles W. Bergman, president; Sol R. Yudelsohn, vice president; Joseph M. Lowman, treasurer; and Max Mendel, secretary; Max M. Cuba, Dr. H. L. VIRGINIA NEGRO HELD IN CRIMINAL ASSAULT

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 10.—(AP)—James Green, 24-year-old negro, was arrested today by officers in North Carolina today by officers who said he had confessed an attack upon a white man near Greenville, S. C., and a criminal assault on his girl companion.

Arrested by Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst near Greenville yesterday, Green was said to have made a full confession and was spirited away by officers to prevent possible mob violence. His case will be presented to the Pitt county grand jury which convenes the week of January 22.

The 18-year-old victim of the attack is under the care of physicians. Fourteen stitches were required to close the wound on the head of Steve Edwards, 28, a married man, who was driving the car at the time of the attack.

I have preferred to stress the great future advantages to our country and especially the fact that all of us should view this treaty in the light of the benefits which it confers on the people of the United States as a whole.

400 Hear Tobacco Experts At Field Meeting in Tifton

Means of Combating Blue Mold and Other Diseases Explained to Growers.

TIFTON, Ga., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Sowing of tobacco in beds far apart as possible to prevent a threatened shortage of tobacco plants as a result of the recent appearance of the blue mold was advised here today by an expert at a conference of tobacco farmers and country agricultural agents. Approximately 400 attended the tobacco field meeting conducted here annually by the Georgia coastal plain experiment station.

Speaking with a formula known as the Bordeaux mixture was recommended by J. G. Gaines, tobacco disease specialist of the station, as a means of combating outbreaks of blue mold. A bright spot in the tobacco outlook was reported by E. C. Westbrook, another specialist, who said there was an increasing consumption of American tobacco, he said, the bright leaf situation was better than that of other classes of tobacco, with expectations of improvement in domestic and foreign consumption.

J. M. Carr, tobacco specialist of the United States department of agriculture, also attended to the experiment station here, discussed the best methods of growing plants, fertilization and selection of varieties best adapted to the Georgia market demands.

The government's plan for controlling corn and hog production was explained to 400 county agents who came here for the tobacco meeting by C. D. Lowe, of the United States department of agriculture.

Mr. Gaines reviewed the damage caused by blue mold in 1932 which, he said, combined with a late freeze, reduced the crop that year by more than 60 per cent. The disease did but little damage last year but symptoms of it were discovered January 6 on holdover tobacco stalks in a last year's bed.

HEADQUARTERS TOWN A TOWN B TOWN C FIRST TRIP HEADQUARTERS TOWN A TOWN B TOWN C SECOND TRIP

HE uses the skip-stop plan of telephone selling. The skip-stop plan of telephone selling alternates personal visits with telephone calls on successive trips. For example: On one trip through a particular territory the salesman, before he leaves the home office, telephones all customers in town "A" and secures their business. He goes to town "B." Here he personally visits his customers and reaches those in town "C" by telephone, etc.

On his next trip the salesman personally visits those customers in town "A" whom he previously called by telephone—and telephones his customers in town "B." In other words, he reverses the procedure; and in two trips he not only personally visits each customer but also keeps in touch with them by telephone.

By this method the salesman can make each trip over his territory in about half the time formerly required by personal visits to all customers.

He is thus able to see personally each customer once a month as before and in addition contact each customer by telephone once a month between personal visits. In this way, the salesman contacts each customer, either in person or by telephone, every two weeks instead of just once a month. It is an ideal plan which numerous southern concerns are using to help solve the problem of hand-to-mouth buying.

For full information about this plan, call the telephone business office, or ask for our booklet, "Selling by Telephone," which describes this and many other telephone selling plans.

50-Year-Old Parrot Yells Madly If Supper Isn't Ready on Time

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 10.—(AP)—More than 50 years old and he still shrieks when his supper is not on time, or peanuts. He also likes ice cream and assorted dainties.

Imitative, playful, and quarrelsome by turns, Billy, the pet parrot of Mrs. W. H. Lanier, of this city, has passed the half-century mark without learning to control his temper when he is hungry.

He has been in the Lanier family more than 50 years, and says his record goes back much farther. He came to Mrs. Lanier from Oak Park, Ill., 25 years ago. Before that time he lived in Colorado Springs, Colo. Earlier owners passed along records that would make the bird one hundred years old.

Georgia was in need of a "supper" if no one makes a move toward that end he raises his voice until he is shrieking. Sunflower seed is his dish but he screams "supper" whenever he hears anyone crackling peanuts. He also likes ice cream and assorted dainties.

Sometimes he will sit with eyes half closed and carry on a conversation with himself—or it may be he is talking things over with the spirit of a departed relative. It goes something like: "Yes, yes . . . um-huh, huh, . . . no . . . yes."

SALES TAX SENTIMENT GROWS, SAYS SUTLIVE

CLAXTON, Ga., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Sentiment is growing in Georgia for a sales tax, William G. Sutlive, managing editor of the Savannah Press, told a meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association.

Speaking here yesterday, Mr. Sutlive declared the general assembly of Georgia was in need of a Crawford Long solon to put over "this palatial method of taxation" just as Dr. Crawford Long, a Georgian, had cut the main out of surgical operations by the means of an anesthetic.

"Everybody agreed," Mr. Sutlive said, "that the present tax methods in Georgia are in chaos, but when somebody suggested a remedy the lawmakers did not seem to want to assume the responsibility for making changes."

The number of states that have adopted the sales tax is increasing steadily, he said. The editor quoted bank officials, store keepers and realtors as being in favor of the tax. Concerns in Mississippi to show that the sales tax was working to their advantage in that state after more than a year.

In conclusion he said the state must have a source of steady revenue if the school system of the state was not to break down. A sales tax would bring several hundred thousand dollars into the state treasury from so many individual tax payers that its payment would scarcely be felt by those affected. The beneficial results would be state-wide.

ROBERT FECHNER VISITS AT JACKSON, HIS FORMER HOME

JACKSON, Ga., Jan. 10.—Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work by appointment of President Roosevelt, came home Tuesday. While here they were guests of Lieutenant Loudermilk, camp commander, and Blanton Clemens, superintendent of the reforestation projects. The work at Indian Springs, where the state park is being improved, including the building of a new section, has been expected, and the camp and type of work being done here was lauded by Mr. Fechner and members of his party.

Accompanying Mr. Fechner to Jackson and Indian Springs were B. M. Lufburrow, state forester; Colonel Thomas S. Moorman, district commander; E. R. Fuller, and Captain Edwin Aldridge, all of Fort McPherson.

'BLUE SKY' VIOLATION CHARGED MACON FIRM

Baldwin Jury Indicts Franklin Savings and Loan Company.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Solicitor-General R. F. Baldwin, of the Ocmulgee circuit, said the Baldwin county grand jury today returned an indictment against the Franklin Savings and Loan Company of Macon, Ga., charging it with violations of the Georgia "blue sky" securities law.

The solicitor said the indictment charged the company failed to obtain a license to sell stock in compliance with the state securities law. J. H. Fowle, of Macon, president of the company, and four others were named in the indictment which charged that six shares of stock in the company were offered for sale to J. B. Malpass, agent of a refining company here.

Others named in the indictment were listed by the solicitor as T. E. Wright, W. L. Allen, R. V. Johnson, all salesmen of the company, and a man whose name was given only as "Marshall."

Solicitor Baldwin said the case probably would be called for trial next week.

COLUMBUS BUDGET FOR 1934 ADOPTED

COLUMBUS, Ga., Jan. 10.—The city of Columbus adopted its budget for the year Tuesday through action of the city commission. The budget provides for expenditures totaling $741,557.40. This compares with $748,953.82 in 1933, $849,326.25 in 1932, $1,028,061.15 in 1931, and $967,719.25 in 1930. The year of peak valuation in property was 1930.

The budget for this year is $7,506.42 lower than the 1932 budget. The figures would be lower, it is stated, but for two factors entering into the situation, which have to be anticipated. One is, that building materials have advanced this year. The other is, that the city co-operation with the CWA means putting out some money on the part of the municipality.

Following is the budgeting of expenses: general city government, $97,913.41; public works, $148,544.99; fire and police departments, $192,102; public health, $27,802; recreation, $2,030; paying debt fund, $258,505; paying fund, $10,000; and sewer fund, $9,500.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Jan. 10.—(AP)—A jury in city court here today found a verdict of not guilty against L. G. Buckner, of Jacksonville, charged with transporting a truck load of 3.2 beer through this city last June, the shipment being billed, according to the defendant, from Jacksonville to Columbia, S. C. The jury was out only a short time.

Buckner, in his sworn statement to the jury, admitted both the possession and transportation of beer here on June 21, 1933. He denied, however, that he had violated any law, since he was transporting 38 cases of beer from one wet state to another. The defense contended further that the prohibition law in the state of Georgia has been repealed in effect. The state offered but one witness, Deputy Sheriff Cy Stephens, one of the arresting officers.

RAIL-TRUCK CLASH ENLIVEN'S HEARING

"Honesty" of Basis of Figuring Competitive Rates Brings Tilt.

A heated exchange between a railroad representative and a motor carrier attorney over the "honesty" of the basis on which truck competitive rates are figured, and the final purpose of such rates, enlivened proceedings Wednesday in the Georgia public service commission's investigation of rail freight rates.

Smythe Gambrell, Atlanta attorney who filed an appearance in the case merely as an interested citizen, but whose firm representing numerous bus and truck lines, cross-examined J. E. Tilford, chairman of the Southeastern Freight Association, at the end of the day's session.

He first elicited from the railroad man the statement that the railroads would have to have a 15 per cent rate increase merely to make up their deficit on present business.

Tilford told him the carriers ought to have a 3-4 per cent net return, "but are not here asking for any increase but merely opposing any cuts which will create a further deficit."

Gambrell then asked him if it was his contention the railroads should have their 5-6 per cent profit regardless of general conditions, or should "take pot luck with the rest of us." He got no definite answer.

Competitive Rates.
From that question Gambrell went into the matter of the truck competitive rates, which the railroads have established between numerous specified points for the purpose of meeting motor competition.

"Isn't it your real purpose," the attorney asked, "to put these low rates in just long enough to break the little fellows and drive them off the roads, and then go back to the old rates?"

"In my judgment," Tilford answered, "the law requires us to raise rates back to a paying level after the purpose of meeting competition has been accomplished. Of course we would maintain the competitive rates if the competition remained a threat."

"Don't you make these rates below the cost of rendering service purely for the purpose of eliminating competition?"

"We endeavor never to make a competitive rate that is not compensatory. We would be foolish to cut rates below cost."

"Then aren't you faced with the proposition that your general rates are higher than necessary if those truck competitive rates pay their own way?"

"Not at all. Rates are made so as to move the business, and one of the principal items entering into a rate base is the value of the service."

Questioned on Costs.
"Then you figure costs generally, and in respect to competition on a different basis, do you not?"

"Rates are based primarily on the value added to the product by transportation."

"Don't you mean that the competitive rates, figured honestly, would fail to produce the cost of transportation?"

"I don't agree with anything you have said, particularly your comment on the honesty of our rate figuring," Tilford shot back angrily.

"Isn't it your real purpose to drive your competitors out of business," the attorney persisted.

"It is our purpose to get the business back."

"Do you know about the Sherman act passed 40 years ago to prevent the Standard Oil Company from underselling any little competitor that raised his head, and then hoisting prices when he was broke?"

"No, I don't know much about the details of the Sherman act."

Revenue Loss Cited.
Tilford said he did not believe rate

CWA Jobs for Everybody Suggested by Talmadge

Governor Talmadge, who has had several oral controversies with Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief and civil works administrator, said Wednesday he would be glad if the federal government would put everyone in Georgia on the CWA pay roll at $3.20 a day.

The governor made the statement at a press conference after he had been asked to comment on the effort of the Georgia delegation in congress to obtain $50,000 more CWA jobs for the state, and that Congressmen Carl Vinson to increase the state's job quota from 80,000 to 240,000.

He would not elaborate on the statement.

reduction would produce enough new business to take the place of the lost revenue.

Under examination by Frank W. Gwathmey and W. N. McGehee, of railroad counsel, the witness said rates generally had been about cut in half, and that he was not sure of the general rates just because competition had forced cuts for certain commodities.

In direct testimony Tilford previously had said most of the freight moving in the south, even intra-state, was moving on rates set by the interstate commerce commission, and that rates in the north generally had increased more since the pre-war period than those in the south.

He said most of the traffic lost to trucks had gone to private and contract carriers, rather than public truck lines.

He predicted that a 10 per cent rate cut would make the carriers fall $93,000,000 a year short of earning a fair return, and a 25 per cent reduction would raise the deficit to $141,000,000.

Woman, Mother of 3,
Barred From Driving

Charged with operating an automobile while intoxicated, Mrs. Carl Honea, of a State street address, was given a 12-month sentence at the state farm by Judge Jesse M. Wood in city criminal court Wednesday. The court gave Mrs. Honea a brief lecture, placed her on probation when it was shown that she is the mother of three small children, and barred her from driving for one year.

H. G. Shirley's driving for the next six months must be strictly business under Judge Wood's order. Shirley, an auto mechanic, was fined $25 and given a six months' suspended sentence, provided he does not drive for pleasure during that time.

Unusual stipulations also were made in the case of J. T. Turner, fined $25 and given 12 months' suspended sentence, with the provision that his driving shall be confined to acting as chauffeur for his partially-blind brother.

Other drivers fined or sentenced were J. B. Stevens, who was given 12 months' suspended with non-driving clause; John H. Alterman, fined $35 or three months; and Wesley McClintock, negro, fined $50 and 12 months' suspended with non-driving provision.

In the interim, double sessions will be held at the Capitol View school, nearby, and the 400 students ousted by the fire will continue their studies there.

The new structure will be brick, erected on the old site. It will be a one-story affair and include 12 classrooms, a kindergarten, auditorium, cafeteria and an office suite.

City taxes will be assessed in Fairburn this year for the first time since 1931, it was decided at a meeting of council Wednesday night in Fairburn.

Back taxes may be paid with interest charge up to April 1, council announced.

Dr. W. R. Camp was elected mayor pro tem, and R. E. Jones was re-elected city clerk and recorder. Dr. Harry Bledsoe, an Atlanta dentist, is the new mayor, and the new councilmen, all elected last week, are N. F. Smith, Clyde Duncan and E. B. Jones.

A number of names have been mentioned but it was understood Wednesday that Mr. Bashinski had definitely been determined on by the board members. He was in charge of census enumeration in middle Georgia in 1930.

FRACTURED LEG COSTS AUTO DRIVERS $5,000

A verdict for $5,000 was returned by a jury in Judge John D. Humphries' division of superior court Wednesday in favor of G. W. Sims, against John Henry Raven and Andrew Raven, the suit having grown out of an automobile accident July 9, 1932, in which according to the petition, the plaintiff suffered a compound fracture of the leg and other injuries. Sims sued for $10,000 and was represented by Attorney Homer C. Denton.

Naked Madwoman Found Prisoner; Husband and Housekeeper Arrested

RIDGEFIELD PARK, N. J., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Detectives strove today to piece together the strange story surrounding the imprisonment of a naked madwoman in a dirty, unheated, closet-like room over a stable on the old Barnes estate.

The woman, Mrs. Sophie Cerardi, 42, pronounced insane by a county physician, meanwhile was receiving medical attention at the county hospital, Bergen Pines.

The two other characters of the strange tale, the two alleged jailers, Joseph Cerardi, 34, the woman's husband, and his housekeeper, Miss Mary Griffin, 35, were held under arrest in county jail on charges of false imprisonment, and authorities said there was a possibility of a second charge of abusing an insane person.

Much police interest centered on the husband, a former middleweight pugilist, who they said was questioned in the Lindbergh kidnapping case after the body of the murdered Lindbergh baby was found near a shack where Cerardi stayed occasionally at Hope-well.

Cerardi, also known as Geradi, rented the four-room apartment above the stable almost two years ago. Neighbors told police they saw his wife arrive with him and she was then apparently in good health. When police found her last night she had wasted away to 50 pounds.

When Cerardi was arrested last night, police said he acknowledged keeping his wife locked up, but denied mistreating her. He said he had taken her from a state institution where she had been committed as mentally unbalanced and was keeping her with him "for her own benefit."

Police entered the case late yesterday at the request of Mrs. Cerardi's sister, Mrs. Loretta Regenstruf, of 1161 Shakespeare ave., The Bronx, who complained that Cerardi had repeatedly refused to allow her to see her sister, and allegedly threatened "to bump her off" if she told anyone he kept her sister locked up.

GEORGE SPONSORS BILL ON VOCATIONAL WORK

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, today introduced in the senate a bill, to continue the further development of vocational training and education in the several states and territories. The measure authorized the appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, and each year thereafter, $3,750,000 for the purpose of paying teachers, supervisors and directors of agricultural subjects in educational institutions.

The senator proposes that one-third of this sum be allotted each year to all states and territories in the proportion their farm population bears to the total farm population of the United States, exclusive of our insular possessions; one-third in the proportion that the rural population in each state and territory bears to the total rural population; and one-third in the proportion the non-farm population of each state and territory bears to the total non-farm population of the country.

The department of education, interior department, for which an additional $100,000 annually is authorized to be appropriated, for administrative purposes, will have charge of the administration of the act.

Present appropriations for education work expire with the end of the fiscal year. Senator George was therefore prompted to move a continuation of the existing policy. Several years ago congress passed a bill sponsored by him bringing the program up to the present period. The work has been so valuable that he decided to ask for further funds.

GOVERNMENT ENDS CHICAGO MILK WAR

Truce Signed by Representatives of Farmers, Windy City Dairies.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The Chicago milk blockade was ended today as the federal government moved toward stern intervention against interference with interstate shipments and with the United States mails.

Settlement of the strike was in the form of a truce signed by representatives of the farmers, the big Chicago dairies, and even the independent dairies which in the past have refused to guarantee any minimum price to producers.

Under terms of the truce, a mediation board of three members, one from the distributors, one from the farmers and a third to be selected by the first two, will be named to agree on a fair price to be paid farmers.

The settlement came as violence and sabotage in Chicago and the territory for 100 miles around reached the point of virtual civil war. Thousands of gallons of milk had been spilled on highways, trucks and dairies wrecked, nine trains stopped and searched for milk, dairymen slugged.

When the embargo ended there was not a drop of milk for sale in Chicago stores, even families with small children could obtain none, and deliveries to hospitals and institutions were threatened.

The settlement in many ways was regarded as more favorable to the farmers than any condition previously prevailing in the huge Chicago market, even under the milk marketing act put into effect by the agricultural adjustment act and abandoned January 1.

For the first time, independent dairies (non-members of the Chicago Milk Council, Inc.) will pay on a minimum basis for their milk.

Dairies which refused to abide by the federal marketing agreement were among those signing the truce. They included the Meadowmoor, Edgewater, Wagner and Lakeview Companies.

Missourian Indicted On Hoarding Charge

DENVER, Jan. 10.—(AP)—William A. Rutchart, of Joplin, Mo., was indicted by a federal grand jury here with Miss Edith M. Thomas, daughter of former United States Senator Charles Thomas, of Colorado, on gold hoarding charges. District Attorney Thomas J. Morrissey said today.

Rutchart, head of a Joplin mining machinery company, declined to comment on the case. He is charged in the grand jury indictment with having $9,000 in gold in his possession last September 10, in violation of President Roosevelt's executive order, and with having failed to report his gold holdings to the internal revenue collector.

Miss Thomas also was indicted on two counts, charging her with hoarding $3,000 in gold.

Senator Thomas, who is ill at his home here, last May defied the government to take $120 in gold from him, asserting it had no authority to do so.

Loans Approved Here For 18 Closed Banks

Liquidation loan applications of 18 closed Georgia banks have been passed on by the regional committee headed by Robert G. Clay, Atlanta banker, and may be followed by Washington officials of the Reconstruction Corporation by the end of the week.

R. E. Gormley, state superintendent of banks, announced Wednesday. Gormley said it was planned to have the applications in the hands of Washington authorities today.

The regional committee did not make public the names of the banks on whose collateral the superintendent is seeking loans, nor the amount for which the committee recommended loans.

The amounts recommended varied in some cases from those applied for. Altogether the plan was department is working on 45 such loan applications.

PISTOL IS PULLED, "LOVING ZEAL CLUB" ADJOURNS IN HASTE

Brother Jerry Pickett, a charter member of the Loving Zeal Club, negro religious cult, played havoc with the last meeting of the club, and as a result got himself bound over to the state courts for carrying and possessing a weapon Wednesday afternoon in recorder's court.

The brothers and sisters of the club told Judge Cone Brother Jerry would not stand up at the last meeting when told to do so by the president, Brother Fred Crosby, and, furthermore, had caused the president to leave hurriedly by pointing a pistol at him. After Brother Crosby left, Sister Lore Hill, the treasurer, took charge and put Brother Pickett out, but the latter then pointed his gun at Sister Myrtle Ross, the secretary, who called police. Judge Cone bound Pickett over on two charges under bond of $100 each.

Sister Ross said Brother Pickett had been a member of the Loving Zeal Club for five weeks, but had paid only 10 cents in dues at 5 cents per week. She said she thought it ill became a member who was in arrears with his dues to create a disturbance.

ATLANTA, GA., JAN. 11, 1934.

THE RAILROAD "Y" CAMPAIGN.

The campaign of the Atlanta

Railroad Y. M. C. A. to increase its membership to 2,000 should receive

general support by all elements of Atlanta's population.

But little is known of the work of this civic organization by the people of the city generally because of the quiet manner in which it has conducted its affairs during its 49 years of existence. It has,

nevertheless, been one of the city's most useful associations and has wielded a marked influence for the good of the community.

In order to achieve the sought-

for goal of 2,000 members, the membership of the Railroad "Y" is being opened to the general public.

The increased revenue will be used to broaden the scope of work being done among the more than 10,000

families of railroad men in Atlanta.

During the depression this local organization has given aid of one kind or another to more than 10,000 men, a large increase in its service which was accomplished despite the fact that its revenues have been sharply reduced.

The enlarged service the organization hopes to offer will include improved lodging, recreation and rest facilities and the employment of a service secretary who will conduct constructive activities for

Atlanta railroad men and their children.

The service of the Railroad "Y" is not limited to railroad men and their families. Any citizen holding a membership ticket is entitled to the privileges and courtesies extended by the local organization and its associated organizations all over the world. It is estimated that more than 3,000,000 men have been benefited by this practical Christian service. Its objective is to furnish a home-away-from-home for railroad men, making available to them good lodging, good food and wholesome entertainment during the time that their duties take them away from their home cities.

Such an institution deserves support that will enable it to live up to the full opportunity of service offered. This service extends not only to railroad men but to the entire community. In view of the broad scope of the work, there should be such general support of the membership campaign that its success will be assured.

FRANK P. GLASS.

The death of Major Frank P.

Glass, publisher of the Montgomery

Advertiser, removes a picturesque and militant figure from southern journalism.

Major Glass typified the old-time

editors of the south in his vigorous and spirited support of public poli-

death of a man who combined to an unusual degree the finest qualities of leadership of the south of

a half century ago with those of today.

MADDOX RETIRES.

The retirement of Robert F. Mad-doux as chairman of the board of the First National bank takes from the ranks of the active banking officials of the city a financial leader

whose outstanding ability has won

national recognition for him.

His resignation, fortunately, does not mean that his helpful guidance and influence will be lost to local financial circles, as he will remain

as a member of the board and as chairman of the finance committee,

but merely that he will be relieved of the detailed duties and responsibilities of the office he relinquishes.

The banks of no city in the country have a finer record of devotion to the highest ethics of the banking business and continuous and wholehearted support of movements in the interest of the public welfare than those of Atlanta. In the achievement of this high plane

by the financial institutions of the community no man has worked more earnestly nor contributed more liberally than Mr. Maddox.

It is unusual that so outstanding

a financier and citizen should have won widespread acknowledgment of his services. During his long career he has been named as president of the Georgia Bankers' Association, as mayor of Atlanta, as president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and as a member of numerous important public commissions.

His zealous attention to the development of the financial institutions with which he has been connected and his devotion to the public weal has made his life an unusually busy one, and it is not surprising that he should now, after an active leadership of so many years, desire to relinquish to others

the routine duties he has discharged

so ably.

In addition to remaining as a member of the board of the First National bank, Mr. Maddox is a director of several of the outstanding corporations doing business in this section and of a number of educational and cultural institutions. He has been a member, and is now

chairman, of the state board of health, and it is largely to his efforts that the board has been able to bring about revolutionary changes in health conditions in the state. He is now chairman of the local NRA committee.

His retirement from duties that have required so much of his time

means not only that he will be able to enjoy well-deserved ease, but will be able to devote more of his attention to the public interests so close to his heart. For that, the people of his community and state

may well be gratified.

A NEEDED TRADE COUNCIL.

The formation, under the auspices of the National Foreign Trade

Council, of an American-Japanese

trade council will supply a vitally needed body to work for the increase of the commerce between the two nations.

It is especially timely at this time in view of the threat to American trade from the newly signed

Indian-Japanese reciprocal trade treaty.

The American-Japanese trade

council, which will be composed of representatives of American and

Japanese interests in New York and other large cities throughout the United States will have as one of its chief objectives the negotiation of similar reciprocal trade

treaties between this country and Japan. The importance of such treaties is emphasized by the record of our export business to the orient, which grew from $44,000

in 1914 to $288,000 in 1928.

Since the latter year these exports have dropped until only $91-

000 of American raw products and manufactured articles were shipped across the Pacific in the first nine months of last year.

The recovery of this lost trade is of vital importance to American agriculture and industry and the new American-Japanese trade council should render splendid aid to that end.

Why not a slogan for that war

or crime: "Place every thug in the jug."

Sing Sing has a $300,000 gymnasium. Maybe this is where the will do their stretch.

There's a sunken continent in the north Pacific. Maybe it couldn't hold up its floating debt.

There's more good in the world than bad, says the Dalton Citizen.

Yes, but most of the bad is too

frequently paraded.

Editor Jim Chism, of the Pelham

Journal, says he believes in Santa

Claus. Evidently he has been checking up on his Christmas bills.

The English of President Roosevelt is said to be the best in America. Maybe it's because he doesn't use many words the average person can't understand.

THE WORLD'S

WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Turkey and Her Women.

What is probably the last vestige

of the separation of the sexes in Turkey will disappear when the Istanbul

municipality has given definite expression to the wish moved the other day

that the two rows of seats reserved for women in tramcars should be abolished.

Originally, the assignment of special seats to Turkish women on ships,

as well as in railways, aimed at the seclusion of Mussulman women from the other sex. In tramcars, for instance, the two first rows were separated from the rest by heavy curtains.

After the reform, this separation

lost its raison d'être, and was suppressed both on ships and in railways,

but has been allowed to subsist in tramcars, the curtain only being removed. Thus it has become a sort of privilege, which is felt to be inconsistent with the situation as it is now,

when feminine competition asserts itself in all branches of profitable activity and Turkish women occupy high positions even in professions

usually reserved to men, like the police.

Debt to Palestine.

In the London Observer the following fine tribute is paid to the Holy Land as the source and inspiration

of much that is good in modern times.

The tribute which also deals with the great significance of modern Palestine is doubly appropriate in our days,

when some would return to the uncouth tribes of the East and others would debtor to Palestine is incalculable.

Apart from the blessings of the Christian faith and the consolation of worship in its churches, Palestine literature—for when one speaks of Palestine in any but the merest geographical sense, one always means Jewish

Palestine—has sustained the souls of millions of Englishmen and Scotchmen for centuries, for we, and especially the Scots, were a race of Bible

readers in a sense in which no other nation was, unless it be the older elements of American civilization.

There has been a change in the past generation, and the Bible is no longer

read so diligently, but for millions it was, generation after generation, the poor man's university, his school of history, of poetry, of ethics and metaphysics. How many orators has this university not formed, how much matchless prose has it shaped, what

wise philosophy of life and politics

has it bred in our bones, what balm

it has poured into wounded souls, what strength of resolution to overcome

all trouble? An older generation at any rate, feels towards Jewish Palestine, it feels towards the revered schoolmaster or an alma mater of learning.

'Bucky' Harris Sees Washington Team To Beat This Year

TOO MANY 'YES' DOT YAK CLUB, SOX PILOT SAYS

Harris and Collins Go Into Huddle Over Boston Plans.

By Bill King.

BOSTON, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Stanley "Bucky" Harris, new manager of the rebuilt Boston Red Sox, hastened here from his Washington home today to spread the alarm that his charges must beat the Senators to gain the American league pennant.

HARRIS.

"Too many ifs dot the Yankees' prospects," he continued, "and now that Mickey Vernon has left Philadelphia, you can bank on it that the A's pitching is not going to be anything to boast about. Personally I think the league has more balance than it has enjoyed for many years and the team with a consistent plan is going to finish on top. Don't be surprised to find the end of the 1934 American league race the same new-and-old affairs that thrilled the National league last season."

TRADES PLEASE.
"I am delighted with the trades that Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins have put over. The club may not win the pennant, but I don't see how we can be kept out of the money. The new players can be depended upon to maintain their standards and I look for a great improvement from those who were retained."

After asking Collins the time "Lefty" Grove required to get in shape and receiving the reply that he was ready to go now, Harris said that he would limit Sox duties to those of a starting pitcher and would not use him for mopping-up purposes, as was the case in Philadelphia.

Harris was asked if he was satisfied with the southpaw surplus of his pitching staff.

"Yes, indeed," he said. "That's going to come in very handy. You know your best hitting strength in the league is still left-handed and good southpaw pitching bothers all of the sluggers."

SETS DATE.
To prove that he was not superstitious, Harris set Friday, March 2, as the date of the Red Sox departure for the spring training camp at Sarasota, Fla.

Harris expected to leave for Washington tomorrow and return to Boston on Friday.

Padrone To Face Radcliffe Friday

Tony Padrone, from St. Louis, and Ted Radcliffe, Tech high school wrestling coach, will seek wrestling supremacy at the Avondale arena Friday night.

The semi-final throws together the sensational Hugh Wynn against a hitter rated, Wayne Coleman.

Wynn is winning all of his matches of late. An added attraction features Earl Johnson, well-known boxer from Miami, against the skilled Freddie Adge, of Philadelphia, in a 10-round boxing match.

Bob Hasty Father Of Baby Daughter

Bob Hasty, former right-handed pitcher of the Atlanta Crackers, and Mrs. Hasty, are happy over a nine-month daughter born to them at Marietta on December 31.

The baby daughter is the first in the Hasty family and will be called Miss Elva Elizabeth Hasty. The Hastys already had two sons.

Bob pitched for the Crackers for portions of two seasons, coming here from Birmingham in 1931. He won 15 games that year, 10 of them with the Crackers. Last year, he won four and lost three prior to getting his release. He then went to Jersey City. He is a free agent this year.

The best girls' game of the season will be played at the Atlanta Athletic Club tonight when the Atlanta Athletic Club will play the Atlanta Athletic Club. The game will be decided. Alpha girls will play David Hill the final game in the first half. This game starts at 8:20 o'clock.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Franklin Rice

THE GREAT ADVENTURE.
(To Colonel Roscoe Turner, who expects to fly around the middle of the earth in 120 hours.)

Adventurers who've roved and dreamed,
With visions born of unknown charts,
Beyond dock lights that glowed and gleamed,
Beyond the sodden, crowded marts
Where weary feet go shuffling by—
Adventurers, who've heard the call,
By vale and upland, sea and sky,
Here is the last frontier of all!

Around the world—through shifting suns
That no wild eagle yet has dared!
Where the equator's circle runs,
Where no red comet yokes the stars;
Where time and space are simple things,
Where surf and storm lie in the past,
As overhead the motor sings
And east and west are one at last.

O, brothers of the restless heart,
Who've snapped your chains at desk and den
In dreams, that see the sunrise start,
And dead adventurers born again
You, too, can follow Turner's flight
And know again the seven seas,
Where suns are flame and star-drifts light
The girdle of earth's mysteries.

Now California fades in mist
Now Canada beckons on the way—
Another dawn—another day—
The temple bells of Mandalay—
The Taj Mahal—the Southern Cross—
The desert and the jungle ban—
The blur of teak-wood, bamboo, joss,
And then the far Pacific's span.

You leave your office, weary-eyed,
To seek your near suburban home—
The same old crowds—the same old ride
By twenty miles of hedge and loam;
You do this but a time or two
In dull routine without rebirth—
The same old trip—the same old view—
While Turner's been around the earth.

THE ULTIMATE IN THRILLS.
Taking no credit from the halcyon who dashes for 50 yards, or the fighter who lands a knockout, what prizes are in real thrills when measured by the standard of Colonel Roscoe Turner.

Colonel Turner, king of the air's speedways, isn't even halfway content with flying from New York to Los Angeles in a trifle over 10 hours, with a return journey in 11 hours and a few minutes. One of his next moves will be a flight around the middle of the world along equatorial

He believes he can make this thrust into space and cover the distance in 120 hours, or just five days.

You don't have to be an expert mathematician to know that there is a big difference between the top circle of the world and the middle circle of the same baffled and bewildered planet, still wondering in a vague way what most things are all about.

To show the span of Roscoe Turner's contemplated trip, he expects to leave Los Angeles and make his next stop at Cairo, which isn't just around the corner. From there on to the last outposts of the tropical orient—and then back home across the Pacific.

The Atlantic, the Indian ocean and the Pacific all lie in his path. Mountain and jungle, city and desert, old world and new east and west, all within a five-day whirl.

I asked Colonel Turner how long it would take to circle the world by land and train. "From 70 to 75 days," he said.

A five-day trip would be chipping time into something closely resembling shreds.

It may be, as Kipling once suggested, "There's never a law of God or man runs north of 33."

But that isn't the shortest spin around this globe. It always would be around the middle of the earth, the shortest of the long, the big ball, which may never look as big again if circled in a five-day trip.

I asked Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, the famous American ace, what he thought of Turner's chances. "I've seen him in the air," he said. "If Roscoe Turner thinks he can make it, the captain said, "then I think he can make it. There isn't much left for him to conquer in the air."

Tilden and Vines.
There is one feature of the Tilden-Vines meeting that crowds in added interest.

Followers of both men have claimed that each—at his best—was the game's hardest hitter. I've never seen Vines with the blazing serve of Big Bill, but I've seen him in his form, fairly fairly whistle when he happened to be right.

It will also be interesting to see whether or not Vines just came back to the game that carried him to the top in 1931 and 1932.

The Californian believes he is fit, with 15 added pounds, a good rest since last September, when he buckled up.

He will have to be right to knock off Tilden, for the latter has an 18-year handicap to carry.

Cavalcade Enters Big Florida Derby

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Cavalcade, one of the king pin juveniles of 1933 and a possible bright prospect for Kentucky Derby laurels, will carry the popular sulk of Mrs. Isabelle Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade stable in the $10,000 Florida Derby at Hialeah Park on March 17. It was announced today.

Trainer R. A. (Bob) Smith, who is here in charge of the Brookmeade horses, plans to leave shortly for Columbia, S. C., where 30 of the establishment's thoroughbreds are wintering, to pick up Cavalcade and ship him here.

Cavalcade won the Hyde Park stakes in Chicago, finished second to his stablemate, High Quest, in the Eastern Shore handicap at Havre de Grace and was second in the Sanford stakes at Saratoga Springs. He was sprightly raced as a juvenile, winning only the Hyde Park and an overnight condition race at Laurel. However, his earnings for the year were $15,730.

Beattie Feathers Visits at Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Beattie Feathers, Tennessee's dashing boxer, arrived here today for a two-day visit.

Admirers met him at the depot and heaped congratulations upon him for his football work during the year, but the smiling Feathers paid his own tribute to Gene McEver, whom he described as "the greatest runner who ever lugged a football."

Feathers is en route home from San Francisco where he played in the east-west game of football stars.

FLORIDA ROMPS OVER BULLDOGS BY 46-20 SCORE

Young Bulldogs Strike Tartar in S. E. Debut; Hughes Star.

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 10.—Florida's veteran basketball team proved too much for Georgia's sophomores here tonight and the fighting 'Gators handed the Bulldogs an overwhelming 46-20 defeat in the first Southeastern conference game of the season for both teams.

Starting their scoring spree before the game was 10 minutes old, the 'Gators quickly took command of the situation. Neither team did much scoring during the first few minutes, but midway of the first half Florida started sinking field goals from all angles of the court. By intermission the Bulldogs had made 12 field goals for a 27-11 lead.

Eagle-eyed Jimmy Hughes, a gridiron backfield luminary, led the Florida assault on the Georgia sophomores with 11 points for the evening's play. Skinny Bob Warner and Little Jimmy Love were next high for the 'Gators with 10 and 8 points respectively.

Frank Johnson was Georgia's high-point man with 6 points. The Bulldogs came out after the intermission with grim looks on their faces, but it very soon was apparent that it just wasn't their night. Unable to get the tip-off away from Warner and Smathers, Florida's towering centers, the Bulldogs were unable to overcome the handicap.

Florida quickly dispelled any Bulldog hopes of winning. The squeaked all Georgia's attempts at scoring while they were doing a lot of plain and fancy goal shooting themselves. Florida players made several long shots, including a couple of looping, overhanded attempts that went through without touching the hoop.

The game was a bit rough, each team having 11 fouls called on it. Captain George Gunn, of Florida, was expelled for fouling the Bulldogs. Two personal fouls were called on him.

The two teams met again here Thursday night.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Their bright, smiling faces reflecting the optimism they did not hesitate to express, three Southern Association club presidents prepared a 1934 schedule here today.

That baseball will stage an attendance record next season was the unanimous view of Larry Gilbert, of New Orleans; Wilbert Robinson, of Atlanta; and Roy L. Thompson, of Little Rock.

John D. Martin, the league president, who sat in with the committee as ex-officio member, expressed a similar opinion.

The point the moguls stressed was that many thousands of baseball fans have found paying jobs during the last several months.

The result of the committee's labors was not made known when they finished. The league meeting at New Orleans, February 12, must approve the schedule.

One thing was certain, however. The schedule that came out of today's session included Sunday games for Atlanta, Robinson saw to that.

"It looks as if Atlanta will have Sunday games, so we'll have to be taken care of in the way of Sunday dates," was the way he put it before the meeting began, "and, the Sunday games will prove very popular. I look for us to have a better time than for some time past, for Spencer Abbott is a great manager."

"I believe attendance will pick up considerably," Gilbert said. "Also, the clubs will be stronger, and a better race always brings the fans out. All the Pelicans need is a good left-handed hitting first baseman and a good pitcher."

The outlook at Little Rock is good, in the opinion of Thompson, who says he expects to get several good players out of a working agreement with Pittsburgh.

Renaissance Give Stars a Lesson

The Renaissance (colored) basketball team, of New York, put on an exhibition of skill last night at the Sunset park casino, defeating Aiken's All-Stars, 35 to 10, before a crowd of approximately 1,000.

Satch and Tarzan Cooper were the leading performers in administering a basketball lesson to the all-stars. Last year's champions, the Medical school quintet, plays the Juniors.

The Juniors, who failed to come through as expected last year, returned a squad, only Page being missing. The opening in the schedule for the first half.

WALKER NAMED NEW PRESIDENT OF CUB TEAM

With Chuck Klein Added Chicago Eyes 1934 Pennant.

By Paul Mickelson, Associated Press Sports Writer.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—(AP)—William Murphy Walker, one of the firebrands in the old Federal league baseball war, ascended the Cub baseball throne as William the Third today.

The third in an unbroken line of Williams to take over the official reins of the team—William Wrigley Jr. and William L. Veeck preceded him—Walker was elevated to the presidency of the club today by unanimous vote of the principal stockholders. His election officially filled the office he has conducted since the sudden death of President Veeck last October 5.

Walker, a heavy set, genial person, who made money in the fish and oyster business, and who brought a Federal league team to Chicago's north side in the big baseball war back in 1914, immediately brandished a warning to the baseball world that the Cubs, reinforced with new strength, were out to wage a relentless campaign to bring not only the National league but the world's championship to Chicago.

"We have been in two World Series since 1929 and were more or less losers," he said. "We want another chance to win. After the 1933 National league race looks like it is going to be one of the closest in years, but I think that the Cubs are going to win. Yes, I know well enough to beat out contenders like the New York Giants, St. Louis Cardinals, Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Braves—watch out for that this year—but we've got the stuff."

"First of all, we got a lot of added punch in Chuck Klein, who should give the liveliest ball one of its most powerful hitters. Then, you can look for a vastly improved showing from Babe Herman. I'm convinced that Babe tried too hard last season, but we're forgetting about that. He's set for the big year, and we've forgotten the obstacles in the drive toward another title."

Vanderbilt and Tennessee are possible troublemakers, but the other seven conference entrants are not likely to figure prominently in the championship battle, due largely to loss of veterans and inexperience of new players.

Kentucky undoubtedly will not carry as much power as a year ago. The Wildcats always can be depended upon to present a strong, well-oiled club, but the loss of five stars leaves Coach Adolph Rupp with an almost impossible job of reconstruction.

YERKES LAST.
Such veterans as Sale at center, Darby and Yates at forwards and Johnson at guard were graduated, and Bill Davis, a first baseman, and (Frenchy) DeMoisey, one of the best shots of the south, will be the team's ace again.

Alabama has a team of six footers who cover the court quickly and shoot accurately, scoring 101 points in their first two games. Zeke Kinney, a guard, and Sam Bauman, a center, are crack forwards, while few teams have better centers than Jack Torrance or Pete Burge. Johnny pairs well with Wade in defense.

RUNNER-UPS READY.
Mississippi State, runner-up to Kentucky a year ago, has virtually its same squad which won the sensation of last year as sophomores. House and Cochran are fast and accurate forwards, Taylor is one of the best centers, and Walter is a good guard. Walter was chosen on the all-star team last year and had the best scoring average of any player in 1933.

Vanderbilt was off to a good start, winning its first two games, and Commodores still are an uncertain factor because of the predominance of sophomores who may not be able to control the early pace against the stronger rivals.

Tennessee has not entered conference play as yet but the Volunteers have a strong team, and a trio of outstanding sophomores, Florida and Mississippi have defensive strength but lack scoring power. Georgia, Kansas, Auburn and Georgia Tech have young and inexperienced squads.

Tulane has some experienced athletes but the Greenies had the misfortune of running into two of the best teams, Alabama and Kentucky, in opening contests and lost four games. Coach Ray Dauber may have an improved quintet ready by late February when the championship is decided in the Atlanta tournament.

"SMALL REFUGES FOR WATERFOWL."

The foundation whose policies I took exception to a few days ago has published an excellent bulletin entitled, "Small Refuges for Waterfowl." Since the bulletin is conservative and most constructive, I want to take this means of giving it the best possible endorsement.

No one can deny that the next few years will be perilous ones for certain species of ducks. Overshooting in some cases, and the spoiling of breeding areas in others, have gone far toward reducing the numbers of certain varieties of ducks. Therefore, any plan that will increase the number of small refuges for ducks, which will lead toward re-establishment of the falling species, deserves wholehearted support.

Members of hunting clubs will do well to get copies of this bulletin and to study its programs. It might not occur to some people that the center of a city would have any region adaptable for waterfowl refuges, yet it is said that 800 black ducks make their headquarters in the New York Zoological park, which is as far up town as anything in New York, of course, but still heavily populated.

The city of Atlanta would do well to take whatever steps are necessary to establish waterfowl refuges on the city park lakes. The private lakes near Atlanta offer tremendous possibilities of development as wild fowl stations.

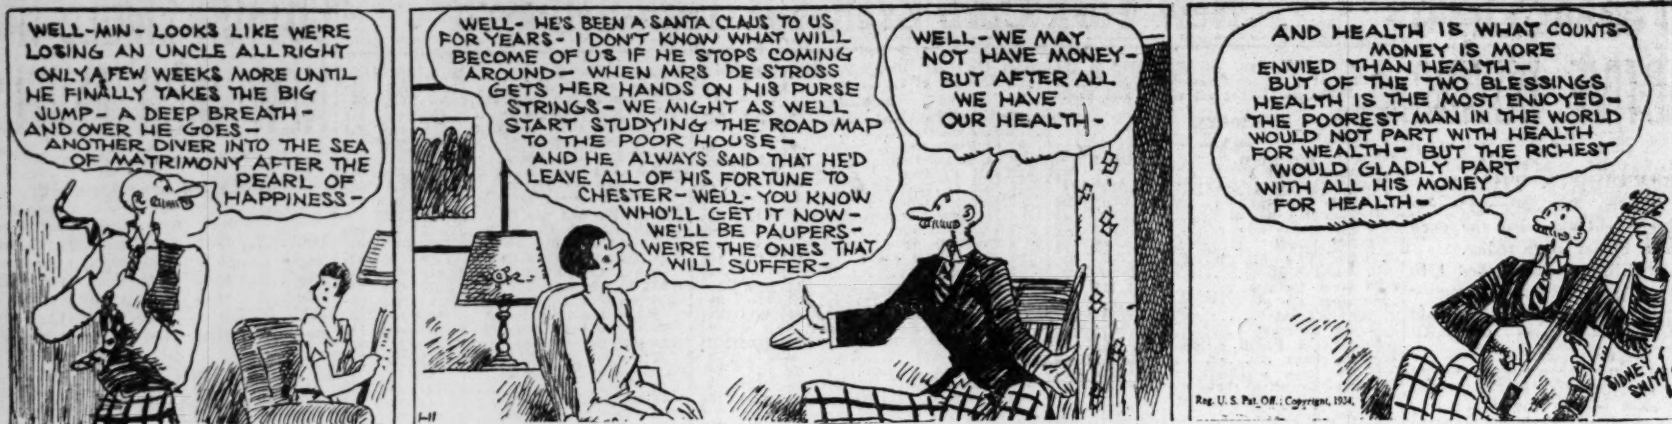

Those of you who are interested in this bulletin may obtain copies free of charge by addressing the foundation, 500 Fifth Avenue, New York, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York. This foundation also publishes other pamphlets on game bird propagation, which are recommended with one exception. The "Game Birds Under Control of Their Natural Enemies."

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Uscas Cressap and his Chinese servant are found dead in the upper room of Cressap's house on Kettle pond, near the entrance of Long Island. Gilbert Jonathan Redd, Cressap's stepbrother, keeps a written private account of developments in the case. A blow on the forehead from a slender, sharp-edged implement killed Cressap. The cause of the Chinaman's death is not apparent. Captain Bray, a special investigator, and an old friend of Redd's, being the men from the district attorney's office in solving the crime. Redd is a former police reporter. Florence Bane, Cressap's niece and an orphan, lived with him. Redd was fond of Florence's mother. He bought a home near Cressap's in order to protect Florence. Cressap made his fortune in the far east. Redd freely admits to Bray his hatred of Cressap, who was a drunkard and a debauchee. The Chinaman and a dwarf, Salino, are the most important of the servants, and there seemed to be some secret bond between them and their employer. Bray calls the members of the household together for questioning. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

I went south along the front wall of the junipers that bound my three acres, and after climbing over the parapet of the fat hillock that shelters the tract from the brunt of the blow when the storm rages, I turned eastward. The tide still advanced with a friendly roaring, but soon would be at high water mark, I judged. Every few paces I checked and looked about me and harkened. I could hear no suspicious sound, could see no suspicious sight. I saw on my left only the marching procession of dunes which, with the glaze of so many glistening, fat, round droves; and on my right only the droves of white mounds swelling centering in, and ahead of me and behind me only the sand. Above the churning reports of the waves as they frayed and washed in, I heard only the whining and the mewing cries of migrating waterfowl passing over high up in the heavens. Even so, constantly I felt a little harsh crinkling of the skin along my spine--a tingle that told me I still was under some undetectable form of surveillance. I didn't like it. There are pits in the sides of the dunes and cliffs between their bases that are little jungles of rank spiky herbage where any skulking shape might hide itself.

Somewhat less than half a mile beyond my place, Kettle creek concludes its meanderings by breaking through to the brine. When I got that far I meant to turn back. But just before I got that far I saw, perhaps 200 yards out in the surf and almost abreast of me, a craft at anchor. She showed no riding lights. At that distance she looked to be a chunky steam tug, very bluff in the bows and heavily butted.

That wasn't all I saw. I saw a motor boat which obviously must have put in from this off-shore sojourn and which was just on the point of nosing up to the north of the creek. I got upon all fours so as to put her broadside to the skyline and, so doing, could make out the features of two men, one at the wheel and the other aft, and also I discerned a smaller black object traveling behind her, and by that I knew this incoming launch was towing a skiff.

Still at a squat, I watched her maneuver across the sand reef at the entrance, and my ear caught then the change in the beat of her tempo as the steersman checked his motor down before he began following the tortuous windings of the stream.

I turned inland and accompanied them, keeping well back though. Trailing along was no very difficult task since I often had traversed this ground and knew when to avoid marshy puddles and treacherous round tussocks of the spiny salthay and, better still, knew when a short cut across from the head of a bend to its foot would save rods. But the launch it was perhaps three miles from the entryway to where the bridge on Pharaoh's lane spans the creek. For me, the journey was considerably less. Just beyond the bridge the creek widens out into Kettle pond, so that abutting on the nearer side is the Cressap estate and on the farther side are those waste lands drowned under swamp water on the north and wetted to a brackish mire on the south, with the squatly dorsal of Van Hook's Neck lifting as a barrier between.

At least twice during that pursuit I felt that telltale prickling up and down my spinal column. Once, not 30 yards behind me, I could have sworn I heard a subdued splash as though some heavy creature blundered into a flooded place. And again farther on, I recalled the small straggle of suddenly stooping behind a thick clump of marsh mallows and cat-tails and peering rearward through the fringe of tasseled reeds. I almost was sure, but not quite, that for one fleeting moment before it huddled below the horizon, I caught the blurred outline of a squatly human shape.

I was in a dilemma, being pulled at by two desires--a desire suddenly to turn and dart back and lay down the law upon whoever it was that tagged me, and a desire to stay close to those mysterious voyagers inching upstream just yonder. The latter course seemed to me the more expedient. So while the launch crawled at snail's pace under the bridge, I was scuttling over the road above; and as she slid gently up the middle of the widened out inner basin, I was wriggling through a shielding undergrowth of semi-aquatic vegetation, some of it growing in the small artificial plantings which fringed the lands of my dead stepbrother.

Traveling as slowly as she might and still have headway, she moved on until her snout was above even with the boat-house and then the tillerman killed the engine entirely and she drifted slowly, while the two men standing in her hull vigilantly studied the deep shadows against the shoreline. They directly faced me, because by now I was behind a back corner of the boat-house. Since the throbbing of her motor had stopped, there wasn't a sound to be heard except for the gentle lap-lap of baby ripples eddying against the bank.

And then--I almost jumped out of my hide with the suddenness of it--and then, not 50 feet from me I heard a voice. Bray's voice it was and in a cordial deep hail it said: "Evening, gents. Swing right on in and enjoy the courtesies of the port."

With that ironic greeting he flashed on an electric pocket lantern and its light lanced out like a long fine pencil of radiance and picked up those startled chaps above even in their floorboards with their jaws lolled and their eyes goggling. He was standing in a patch of black shade at the top of the slanted wooden apron on the front of the boat-house. As I veered out from the side wall

Bond Dealings on New York Stock Exchange

Market Outlook

Heavy Frost, Then Warmer Weather Is Due Today, Atlanta Bureau Says

By MAX BUCKINGHAM

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—(UP)—A brilliant frost on the stock exchange today left prices 1 to 5 points above the previous closing levels and brought out predictions the big bull drive was not far distant.

The bond market had its biggest day in more than three years with a turnover of $22,000,000. Bonds generally closed higher with the exception of the United States government issues. Commodities also were higher, with wheat in demand. The dollar was slightly easier. Business news was all on the favorable side, including the report that the steel industry was producing at a record rate.

The best showing since September 30 in electricity output as compared with the corresponding period of the previous year, another rise in steel loadings; predictions steel operations soon would rise sharply as a result of automobile and railroad buying; pickup in the cotton market; and a sharp gain in the United States Steel Corporation; better banking conditions.

PUBLIC BUYING LIGHT. If the outside public would come into the market there should be a substantial advance in heavy volume, operators say. Today as well as excellent, but the amount of public buying was light. Shorts covered, which weakened the technical position of the market, but the lack of the list's vulnerability tomorrow.

The last hour on the stock exchange accounted for transactions of $30,000,000, but the total of the day's sales of $142,000,000. In the corresponding periods yesterday the totals were $22,000,000 and $70,000,000, respectively.

Of today's total 10 issues accounted for 300,000 shares, or 2.58 percent of the total business done. Chrysler led with 75,000 shares, closing at 54, up 2 points. General Motors followed with 50,000 shares, closing at 36 1/2, up 1 point. The rest of the issues were mixed.

STEEPS IMPRESSED. Wall Street was most impressed with the sharp gains in the railroad issues which were aided by President Roosevelt's statement he favored a plan to pay off railroad bonds by selling government bonds. That statement also aided railroad bonds. Utilities rose sharply, as did communications. American Telephone featured the latter, closing at 113 1/2, up 1 point. Case closed at 54, up 1 point.

The reason for the demand for Case and other farm equipment was the report of the department of agriculture on stocks on farms as of January 1. And this report, incidentally, is a highly favorable factor for the stock market as a whole for the grain market. Stocks of wheat on farms January 1 were only 36.8 percent of the previous year's crop.

Wheat stocks are the smallest for any year since the department has been collecting the figures—1927. (Copyright, 1934, by the United Press.)

Nazis Behead Van Der Lubbe For Starting Reichstag Fire

LEIPZIG, Germany, Jan. 10.—(AP)—The beheading of stolid Marinus Van Der Lubbe today for the burning of the reichstag last February closed one chapter of that sensational case and brought to the fore the probable fate of his four fellow defendants. The emotionless young Dutch brick mason was executed at 7:30 o'clock after refusing, as in a coma, to reply to final questions whether he had anything to say and whether he had any last wishes. In two or three days the German government is due to decide whether to do with three Bulgarians, who have been in jail since December 23, when the supreme court convicted Van Der Lubbe and acquitted the other four. Poland indicated day to the soviet government that it would grant the Bulgarians—Georgi Dimitroff, was it Taneff and Blagoi Popoff—a transit visa in case Germany decides to deport them to Russia. The fourth, Ernst Torgler, one-time

"A Lot of Values"

IT'S ABSOLUTELY STARTLING

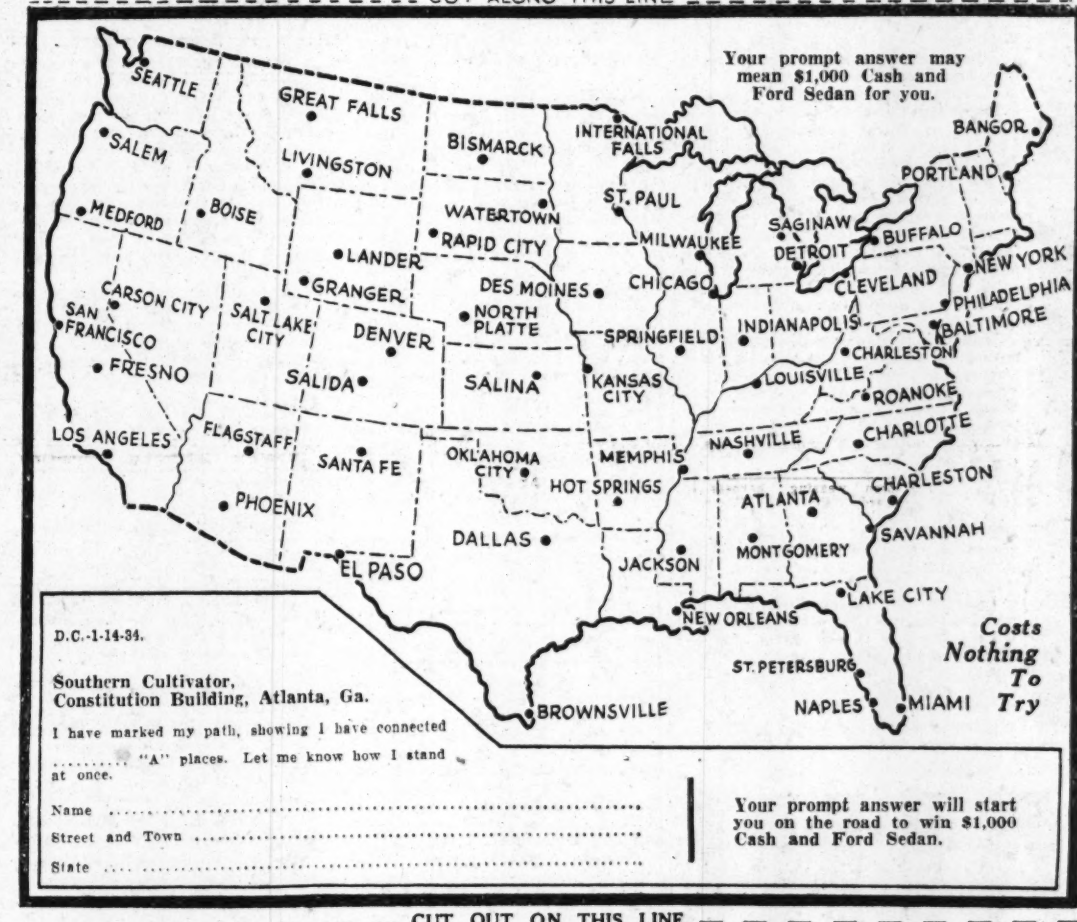

THE AMOUNT OF PLEASURE YOU CAN HAVE SOLVING THIS INTERESTING PUZZLE

Yes, positively, we mean YOU can have a wonderful time playing this map puzzle game. This game holds fun charms almost unbelievable for anyone—young folks, middle-aged folks and old folks can have the time of their lives playing it.

How Many Names of Places in Which the Letter "A" Appears Shown on This Map Can You Connect Without Crossing Your Path?

That's what you are to determine. Sounds easy, doesn't it?—and it is easy. Below is a map of the United States on which the names of a number of places are shown. Without any trouble you can readily see names of such places as "Atlanta," "Chicago," "Seattle," "Savannah," "Charleston," etc., which contain the letter "A" in their spelling, can't you? Well the others are just as easy to see, but the idea is to see who can draw a straight line from "dot" to "dot" connecting the MOST "A" places.

Take out your pen or pencil and start your path. Go in any direction that you care to: North, South, East or West, backwards and forward. Anywhere you like. Keep track of the "A" places you reach and mark down your path on the map.

Thrill to the Fascination of This Alluring Map Game

Folks, never before has there been such an enjoyably simple and still most engrossing prize opportunity. An intriguing "at-home" recreational game so intensely interesting that you will almost have to tear yourself away from it. You've never enjoyed anything like it.

COX BLOCKS CHANGE IN RULE OF HOUSE

Move To Return To Old Order of Procedure Is Abandoned by Committee.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Through the intervention of Representative Eugene Cox, of Georgia, the house rules committee was revealed today to have abandoned for the time being at least the move recently put forward for making important changes in the parliamentary procedure of the chamber.

But for the opposition of the Georgia congressman, himself a member of the powerful rules committee, certain democratic leaders were prepared to revise the present rule whereby a committee may be discharged from further consideration of a bill after 145 house members join in a petition for making important changes in the parliamentary procedure of the chamber.

But for the opposition of the Georgia congressman, himself a member of the powerful rules committee, certain democratic leaders were prepared to revise the present rule whereby a committee may be discharged from further consideration of a bill after 145 house members join in a petition for making important changes in the parliamentary procedure of the chamber.

The present rule was sponsored by former Representative Charles H. Crisp, of Georgia, and was put through after a hard fight immediately following the congressional elections of 1920, when the democrats captured control of the lower chamber by a narrow margin. Mr. Crisp at the time was acting chairman of the ways and means committee and as such led the forces which had been seeking liberalization of house rules for a number of years.

In the face of the long fight by democrats for making the rules more flexible, Representative Cox made it plain to his colleagues that he thought it would be a serious mistake for the party now that it is in power, to go back to the old order of things.

And when some of his associates on the rules bill appeared determined to go ahead with the proposed revision he served notice of his intention to wage a vigorous fight to retain the Crisp amendment, unless the president himself requested the change.

The chief executive ever was back of the plan.

FRANK P. GLASS 76, BIRMINGHAM, DIES

Influenza Attack Fatal to Militant Publisher of Montgomery Advertiser.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Death came today for Frank P. Glass, newspaper publisher and editor, whose virile writings won him a place with "Marshall" Watterson and Frank Cobb, among the "seven super powers" of America compiled by a magazine more than 20 years ago.

Mr. Glass at 76 was publisher of the Montgomery Advertiser, the newspaper whose editorial policies he guided for so many years, at the time of his death.

He returned to Montgomery in 1928, after 13 years in Birmingham and St. Louis, where he was editor of the Birmingham News, and the St. Louis Star, respectively.

News that he could not recover following by a few minutes yesterday a unanimous decision by the senate interstate commerce committee to recommend his confirmation as a member of the federal reserve board, a position given him last year by President Roosevelt.

Repeal Leader.
Mr. Glass, outspoken in state and national political affairs for more than 40 years, was one of the leaders in the campaign for ratification of the prohibition repeal amendment, which ended in a repeal victory last July 18.

He has been a consistent foe of prohibition since that question became a live issue in Alabama politics at the beginning of the present century.

Mr. Glass was the greatest in the history of the industry. Its success prompted him to come to Atlanta to see how the south likes the new Chevrolet.

After retiring for three years, he purchased an interest in the St. Louis Star and was its editorial director for two years. In 1928 he purchased controlling interest in the Montgomery Advertiser.

A graduate of Princeton University, Mr. Glass was a personal friend, a neighbor and a member of the Alabama delegates to the convention which nominated Wilson for president in 1912.

In 1913, he was appointed to the United States senate to fill an unexpired term but that body refused to seat him by a 32-to-31 vote, the decision being based on the fact that he had the right to make the appointment.

Funeral services will be held in Birmingham tomorrow at the independent Presbyterian church he helped to found. Burial will be in Montgomery Friday.

DOG STANDS GUARD OVER BODY OF 'PAL' RUN DOWN BY AUTO
The touching devotion of a dog for another dog was demonstrated Wednesday when a nondescript little shaggy white dog spent all day mourning beside his dead companion, who was killed by an automobile.

It happened on Boulevard near Amsterdam avenue. Two small dogs, one brown and white, the other black and white, were playing together on the street when the brown one was struck and killed by a motorist. He died almost instantly.

The white dog refused to leave the side of his dead pal throughout the day. The accident occurred early Wednesday and late Wednesday night the white dog kept a death watch beside the body of the other. Residents in the section attempted to drive him away but he snarled at them. They were told to leave him alone. He was consumed, but he still would not leave.

Today the city will remove the body of the dead dog, but no one knows what will become of its erstwhile companion.

CLAIRE WINDSOR PLANS NO FURTHER APPEAL
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—(AP)—An attorney for Claire Windsor said today an appeal will not be taken from the Los Angeles superior court judgment of $75,000 for Mrs. Windsor's trial of the $100,000 love theft suit. Mrs. Marian V. Read brought against the actress.

Longer wheelbase, greatly increased body space, radical changes in appearance, 80 horsepower motor, and many other features are promised for the car which will carry the Chevrolet banner in 1934.

When the doors open at the Palais Peasche exhibit at 1 p. m. Friday morning, the 1934 models are scheduled to be on display and inspect the display of the largest company in the largest industry in the world.

Other features planned for the opening day include a special radio broadcast and the popular dance orchestra of Perry Bechtel, who will appear at the Palais Peasche every day through January 20.

The impressive ceremonies planned for the opening, C. G. Smith, Atlanta zone sales manager, stated, will provide a fitting setting for the first local display of Chevrolet's new 1934 models. These cars, in addition to offering the widest "range of choice" in wheels will embody more new features and developments than any annual Chevrolet model in the 22 years the company has been in business.

"We gave our engineers free reign this year. We felt that the market looked sufficiently good to justify expanding huge sums of money in the development of a car which would bear no semblance to previous ones, a car which would emphasize the improvement over those of ancient times, and a car which would be a new vogue in the motoring habits of America."
